TOP TIP!

Promote the Eduspot app to parents before term starts

Cut down on back-to-school chaos by contacting your new admissions ahead of the new school year and asking them to download the Eduspot app. This helps ensure parents are ready to engage with important messages from the first day of term!

How it works for schools

Once your school enables the app in Groupcall or T2P, parents can install it and log in using their contact details.

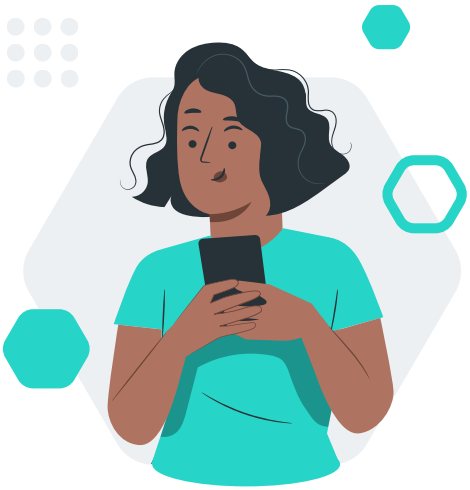

When you send texts to parents, you can automatically send push notifications instead to people who use the app – ideal for schools who want to keep SMS costs down.

From the Performance Hub in your messaging system, you can check how many parents have the app installed, and easily send a quick reminder to those who haven't.

How it works for parents

Once enabled, parents can download the Eduspot app to their Apple or Android mobile device. If their details match what you have on file, they'll be able to securely sign in.

In the app, parents can see a timeline of all messages. If you use other systems that integrate with Eduspot, parents also get shortcuts to access and interact with these services.
